SOCIAL CALENDAR

FRIDAY.
Ladies' Afternoon Reception at First Presbyterian Church parlors.
Tuesday Afternoon Club; hostess, Mrs. M. D. Merritt, Romana street, 3:30 p. m.

SATURDAY.
Meeting of Thursday Morning Bridge club; hostess, Miss Hilda Blount, Bayshore, at 11 a. m.
Forum-School wedding, 219 N. Cavallos street, noon.

IN A GOOD CAUSE.
She asks me how I like her dress, and I allow I tell her, too. The fit is great. In which I do Prevaricate.

It's tasteful, but the taste is bad. The way it's cut is very sad. The style is "yap." The fit's a joke. It's like an apoplectic stroke.

Why should I lie? I'm pretty deep—Almighty sly. That dress was cheap. Avoiding strife I've often lied. But then, my wife is satisfied.

ARRIVE TO SPEND THE WINTER.

Mr. J. W. Packard of Toledo, Ohio, accompanied by his niece, Miss Smith, of Chicago, arrived in the city yesterday, and will remain for the winter season. They will prove valued additions to the already large list of local tourists, whose intention is to enjoy the balmy Florida winter.

DANCE FOR "SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE."

A large number of Pensacola persons were present at the Armory hall last night, the Pensacola Concert band having conducted a very successful event, the proceeds of which are to be given to the Pearl Egan Home.

The band is one of the most popular musical organizations ever supported by Pensacola, and the worthy object in view last night was the cause of much favorable comment. The Pearl Egan home, which is an institution in which Pensacola may well take pride, was the recipient of several Thanksgiving favors among local public institutions yesterday.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION TO MEET.

The School Improvement association will hold an "important" meeting today at School No. 1 at 3 o'clock. A full membership is requested to be in attendance, as subjects of vital importance to the club will be under discussion. The meeting is a postponed meeting on account of the fact that it was impossible to hold the regular session last Friday.

YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED YESTERDAY NOON.

Mr. O. F. Compton of Troy, and Miss Mae Beasley of Milton, were united in marriage at the Pensacola union depot yesterday at 11:30 a. m. Judge Nicholson officiating. After the ceremony, the newly married couple proceeded to Troy, where the groom is prominently known, being the son of a stock raiser and planter. The wedding was the culmination of a pretty

In attendance. The club, which holds a warm spot in the hearts of local society folk, by reason of the dainty and seasonal affairs which it gives from time to time, conducted one of the most beautiful events this season in honor of the Thanksgiving tide, and those who were present last night were enthusiastic with regard to the charming hospitality extended by the members.

A CHARMING VISITOR.

Few ladies visiting the city have received any more real homage than has been accorded Mrs. Mary Newcomb Cummings, who, as lecturer for the national W. C. T. U., has been meeting with the local ladies in the hope of furthering certain plans of the worthy organization. Mrs. Cummings, who is a noble example of all that is good in womanhood, and who can represent the great work which she has in hand. Of a pleasing character, and earnest in purpose, she has completely captivated her Pensacola audiences, and her leave-taking with her many local friends with whom she has become identified will be regretted. She is pre-eminently fitted to handle the work of the W. C. T. U., and is a valued worker in the great cause.

AT THE PROGRESS CLUB YESTERDAY.

Thanksgiving was charmingly observed yesterday afternoon at the Progress club, when a beautiful children's party occurred under the direction of the young lady members of the confirmation class of Temple Beth-El. Games were played in which the children participated, dancing having also been the order of events for the afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served, the event as a whole having been one of the very prettiest which has ever been witnessed at the Progress club.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Frances Hazlehurst Stone, of Macon, Ga., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Ingraham.

Dr. Bickerstaff has returned from New York City, where he had been for a number of weeks.

Mrs. George Cravey and little daughter are spending Thanksgiving with the former's mother in Quincy.

Mr. A. N. Parker and wife, of Muscogee, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. P. K. Clarke, of New York City, arrived in the city yesterday, and will be the guest of Mrs. Lena Mayfield until Tuesday.

Mr. G. W. Packard, of Toledo, Ohio, is registered at the Escambia hotel.

Mr. S. C. Cameron, of Holts, Fla., and Mr. J. A. Cameron, of Ralston, N. C., are at the Merchants for a short visit.

SOME TIMELY TIPS.

Dear, worried woman, in the throes of changing styles and a corset transformation, stop worrying about the decrees of Dame Fashion and the whims of corsetmakers, and look to your carriage, your walk. The modiste does not live, the corset fitter has not yet been born, who can give you the lines attained by standing and walking correctly. Try as these two experts will, they cannot hide the defects which follow a "sloppy" carriage and a slouching walk. Learn how to hold yourself and how to walk, and you can snap your finger at the changes decreed by those who make fashions.

The new corset, fitting like a relentless harness from bust to far below the hip line, will make you woefully uncomfortable, but it will not give you an attractive figure nor yet bestow upon you that sartorial blessing—style. You can attain that only through the wearing of a corset which provides the perfect structure upon which good clothes may be hung and look smart.

Give the woman who slouches or lounges or "slumps" the latest triumph from Piquin's or Worth's and she will yet look like a frump.

Do you know how to stand correctly? Perhaps. But knowing, do you put your knowledge to practical use? The other night at a smart playhouse, I saw a willowy actress in one of those new hipless gowns of glistening rose-colored satin. That is, she thought she was willowy—but she was only angular. She actually thrust out one hip when she stood and walked until it looked like a hoop on which to hang a hat.

After the play a pretty girl who preceded me up the aisle ruined the effect of a beautiful pearl-gray opera cloak by walking with one shoulder fully an inch and a half higher than the other.

Few of these defects are due to actual physical deformities. They are due to habit, and a habit which can be cured. A most common cause of bad carriage in women is some bad habit contracted when going to school. Perhaps you carried your books in the crook of your right or left arm, racing the books under your arm, and thus out the hip to support the books without any weight on the arm. As a result your one hip is more prominent than the other. If you are young you can correct the defect by eternal vigilance, holding the precluding hip in and keeping your shoulders absolutely on a level.

You never fail to glance in a mirror when you pass by a store window or shop window. And what do you study? The angle of your hat, the set of your veil? Let them go from this time on and take a quick glance at your figure. See how you are carrying yourself. Just about three of these illuminating views of yourself as others see you will set you to thinking about your carriage. The angle of your hat, the powdering of your nose will sink into insignificance compared to the position in which you carry your clothes.

"But," perhaps you exclaim, "how can I tell when I am standing or walking correctly?" Here is a simple test. Take a heavy book, weighing not less than two pounds, and place it on your head. If it falls off when you think you are standing in an absolutely correct position then there is something wrong. If you can balance it when walking your carriage is at least erect.

In the correct standing position the head is in a line with the rest of the body, not thrust forward nor held backward. The chin is in, the chest is thrust out, the abdomen is depressed and the knees are straight, not wabbling or uncertain. The heels are together or with one just an inch in advance of the other, and at an angle of not more than 45 degrees nor less.

To thrust the head forward is an affectation. The sunken chest and round shoulders indicate poor health. The abdomen thrust forward suggests slovenliness.

I would not attempt in this small space to tell you how to walk correctly. For you have an awkward or slouchy walk you need actual lessons from an expert, and I consider a first-class dancing master an expert teacher of correct walking. He will show you how to step forward on the toe and ball of the foot first. Instead of on the heel. He will correct the unsightly habit, acquired by some women, of throwing the feet out toward the side when walking and the equally bad habit of dragging the feet. He will give you lessons in calisthenics by which you will secure balance.

Learn how to sit properly. Do not slouch or slump down in the chair with the middle of your back touching the back of the chair, your entire frame sunken and your head hanging forward. The spine must be erect in sitting and the support should come at the base, not in the middle of the

To Clean the Sink.

Every sink should be provided with a three-cornered sieve made by covering a metal frame with very fine wire netting. When water is thrown into the sink it should be turned into this sieve, which retains every particle of solid matter, preventing its getting into the pipes and causing trouble. It is also much neater. Each morning the sink should be thoroughly cleaned. Dissolve a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in hot water and with a whisk broom wash the basket thoroughly; then carefully scrub every portion of the sink, pouring some of the hot suds down the pipe to loosen grease that may have gathered in the trap.

Remember that your waist line forms the hinge on which you bend, never your shoulders or the small of your back, as some girls seem to think.

If you do not stand or walk correctly, by all means spend less money on your clothes and more on physical culture. Ten dollars' worth of lessons along these lines will make a $10 frock look smart, and the lack of the lessons may ruin the appearance of a gown costing $50 or more.

NEWS NOTES OF TALLAHASSEE

Special to The Journal.

Tallahassee, Nov. 25.—In addition to the five attractions guaranteed to holders of season tickets in the Lyceum course, Mr. Murphree authorizes the announcement of two entertainments to be given by the music faculty of the college. The first of these will be a general concert by the faculty; the second, Enoch Arden, read by Miss Dalzell with an accompaniment of music.

There will be no additional expense attached to these concerts for the holders of season tickets. Miss Dalzell, who is professor of expression and physical culture at the college, will address the Southern Educational Association which convenes in Atlanta, Ga., on the 29th of December.

Dean Heathwell will attend the Escambia County Teachers' Association, to be held in Pensacola on the 18th and 19th of December.

Miss Mary Appothor, the efficient librarian of the college, is scheduled for a paper entitled "What a Teacher's Library Means to College Students," to be read before the Florida Educational Association convening at Gainesville on the 28th of December. President Murphree has been requested to respond to the address of welcome on the same occasion.

A vesper service will be given at the college chapel on the third Sunday afternoon in December. The music faculty will be assisted by the Tallahassee Musical Club.

Musicians are eagerly looking forward to Miss Tarbet's organ recital at the chapel on the evening of December 4.

President Murphree has every encouragement to expect a large increase in the enrollment during the second term of the Woman's College. The number of names already reaches nearly two hundred.

Leon county is coming to the fore on the good roads question. On account of the steepness of the hills all through the county continuous work is needed in order to keep the roads in even a passable condition, and heretofore the county has not had either sufficient machinery or force of workmen to do the work required. Now, however, the commissioners have added several men to the force, and bought more mules and machinery. They have new and up-to-date graders and levers, and have secured the services of Mr. George Averit, an experienced road maker, to take charge of the building of new roads and the repairing of old ones. Mr. Averit is the engineer who had charge of the work on the college campus, and the commissioners are fortunate in being able to make him their deputy.

PINE FOREST.

Special to The Journal.
Pine Forest, Nov. 25.—Our farmers are still engaged in digging their sweet potatoes and cutting cane. Some have finished their syrup making already. Mr. Webb expects to start Friday. Others will begin later. Mrs. Martin spent a few days with Mrs. Clayton, near Orliva, last week.

There was an oyster supper given for the benefit of the Baptist church last Saturday evening at Mr. Barringer's. Many from this neighborhood who went, reported having a very pleasant time. Frank Davis and Joseph Price, and Misses Ida and Fannie Davis of Pensacola, were present.

Mr. Klabish happened to an accident last week. His horse became frightened while he was unloading cane at Mr. Herman's place at Brent. Mr. Klabish was thrown out, injuring his back. He was taken to Mr. Herman's at Goulding. He returned to Pine Forest Tuesday and is getting along nicely.

Walton Blomley has been visiting with his parents here for a few days. The Methodist Sunday school was in charge of acting superintendent Arthur J. Ransley and S. A. McCall last Sunday. Mr. Klabish, the superintendent, being absent. The prayer meetings for the last two weeks have been conducted by Quiller C. Webb. Mr. Klabish, the leader, was absent. Arthur J. Ransley and James Doffin spent Sunday evening very pleasantly with Mr. A. L. Webb and family.

There will be special Thanksgiving day services in the Methodist church Thursday, conducted by Dr. S. A. McCall at 3 p. m.; also in the Baptist church at 7:30 p. m.

The "Christians gathered to the Lord's name," otherwise known as "Believers," will hold their regular church service in School House No. 14, next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. The Methodist Sunday school as usual, at 2:30 p. m.

A Hair's Breadth Escape.
Do you know that every time you have a cough or cold and let it run on thinking it will just cure itself you are inviting pneumonia, consumption or some other pulmonary trouble? Don't risk it. Put your lungs back in perfect health and stop the cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold and recommended by W. A. D'Alemberte, druggist and apothecary, 121 South Palafox street, Pensacola, Fla.

CROMANTON.

Special to The Journal.
Cromanton, Nov. 26.—E. Mosher has returned home from a visit to his son in Mississippi and reports a pleasant trip.

The Rev. Mr. Wineman delivered his farewell sermon Sunday morning last.

James Russell reports his school as doing fine. The striding of the new school house are standing on end now, with some prospects of being completed with weatherboards at an early date. Mr. Mosher says there is no obstacle in the way of people coming and going from St. Andrews Bay now, as he boarded a train at 6:30 in the morning and the following morning was at his destination, about 70 miles west of Memphis, Tenn., and his only objection was he had no time to get meals en route.

R. L. Studebaker has returned from DeFuniak, where he was on business. Mr. Bates is expected home this week from St. Louis, where he was employed in government work.

The land lies south of Portage creek running to the east and east including about half of Bear Point. The celebrated fresh water lakes lying within its borders.

Correspondence is already underway for the organization of the Perdido Bay Export Lumber and Shingle company and a mill will soon be erected on the bay shore as the land is covered with a fine growth of both pine and cypress timber.

A company to be known as the Perdido Bay Land company will also be organized to handle the cut over land and the bay front property.

A move is already on foot to make a preserve of the fresh water lakes, erect a club house, cottage and put in boats and conveniences.

The Absent-Minded Candidate.
There is a certain western congressman whose boundless affability and habitual absent-mindedness have occasionally led him into absurd mistakes. One day, during his last campaign, as he stepped from the train at the station of his home town, after an arduous two weeks of stumping and "glad-handing," his little daughter rushed up to him and kissed him. The congressman beamed upon her with a proud and tender parental eye.

"Well, well!" he exclaimed, "if it isn't my little Alberta!" Then he added, mechanically, "and how is your dear old father?"—Cleveland Leader.

D. R. Petet Purchases 3,224 Acres of Land in the County.

The Foley Onlooker of recent date contained the following:
A new lumber and land company and a fishing preserve around the fresh water lakes will be the outcome of the recent purchase of 3,224 acres of land in the south end of the county

Dandierine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Dandierine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grows, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when the scalp dries up the hair simply falls out all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knott's Dandierine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

The 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

Now at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.
